MITCHELL BOLSTERING UP HIS CASE

WILL PROVE HE TOLD TRUTH CRITICISING AIR POLICIES

"Court To Be Shown That the Aviation Department Maintains A Propaganda Bureau" Says Counsel—Assertion Made That War and Navy Departments had Formed a Union To Perpetuate Their Own Existence.

Representative Reed opened the case for the defense Monday in Washington D. C., by submitting a 22,000-word statement which he said was intended as partial proof that what Colonel Mitchell said about aviation policies was true and that it was stupid to censor and condemn what is commendable, the utterance of truth. "I conceive it is my duty in the interests of justice and in the proper presentation of the defense of the accused," he said, in the statement, "to produce direct and positive evidence which will not only convince Colonel Mitchell's accusers of their error but remove much ignorance by a revelation of the truth."

In support of Colonel Mitchell's assertion that "frightful aeronautical accidents and loss of life, equipment and treasure" had resulted from war and navy aviation policies, Mr. Reid cited the wreck of the Shenandoah and the case of the Hawaiian flight plane PN 9 No. 1, which at the time the colonel issued his statement appeared lost a crew of five.

Among other things, the attorney said the defense would prove that the Shenandoah, at the time she was lost "was not a modern airship in all respects;" that her safety factor had been reduced by the use of helium instead of hydrogen, by overweight in her structure, by removal of some of her gas valves and one of her engines by deterioration of the gas cell skins "due to lack of proper care" and in other ways; that the dirigible's mid-western flight "was not necessary" but was a "publicity stunt" having nothing to do with naval operations; that "the authorities ordering and directing the fatal flight of the Shenandoah and the almost fatal flight of the PN-9 were wholly unacquainted with the subject of aviation and incompetent for their duties;" that the Shenandoah started on her last trip over the protest of Commander Lansdowne; that "an officer of the navy department endeavored to get Mrs. Lansdowne, to give false testimony retracting her former statement that Commander Lansdowne was ordered to take the Shenandoah on her fatal flight to the middle west over his protest;" that there were not sufficient parachutes on board the Shenandoah although "reliable parachutes are available" and that the Shenandoah was not given proper weather reports.

Colonel Mitchell's assertion that the war and navy departments had "formed a sort of union to perpetuate their own existence," Mr. Reid told the court could be proved by evidence that the two departments "maintain public propaganda agencies;" that war department officers have been ordered to conform their expressions on national defense on the lines promulgated by the department;" that the air service news is changed, altered and suppressed; that a press report has been sent out by the war department during the progress of this trial regarding its conduct and in an endeavor to influence public opinion and perhaps this court."

The defense statement criticized in detail other aspects of war and navy department administration.

Major General Amos Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, was the first witness called by the defense. He described in detail his experiences in France.

"How much gas would it take to gas an area the size of the district of Columbia?" Mr. Reid asked.

Colonel Sherman Moreland, the prosecutor, objected, but the defense was sustained by the court for the first time since the trial began.

The court's decision sustaining the defense was taken by defense counsel to indicate that the vast amount of evidence he has collected bearing on the general air service controversy would be admitted as evidence Colonel Mitchell smiled broadly.

It declared that during the attempted Hawaiian flight the station ships were too far apart.

The war department, the statement said, "has been guilty of almost treasonable administration in not forestalling the attempt of a foreign flight organization to secure a foothold in Central America."

The statement gave the following totals of fatalities in government aviation between June 1, 1919 and June 30, 1925; Navy, 226; army, 39; air mail, 40.

"BACKWARD PARTY" WAS MOST ENJOYABLE AFFAIR.

The Epworth league of the First Methodist Episcopal church gave a "Backward Party" in the social rooms of the church, Monday evening, November 9. Those attending dressed backward and entered by way of the back door and walked backward. Everyone acted as backward as possible. Games which could be played backward were engaged in under the direction of the fourth vice president, Miss Sarah Haswell. The young people were then ushered into the dining room. The silverware was placed on the tables backward and the first course was toothpicks, followed by a fine lunch which had been prepared by the fourth vice president and her able assistants. All reported it an ideal evening's entertainment.

SURPRISED TESTERS

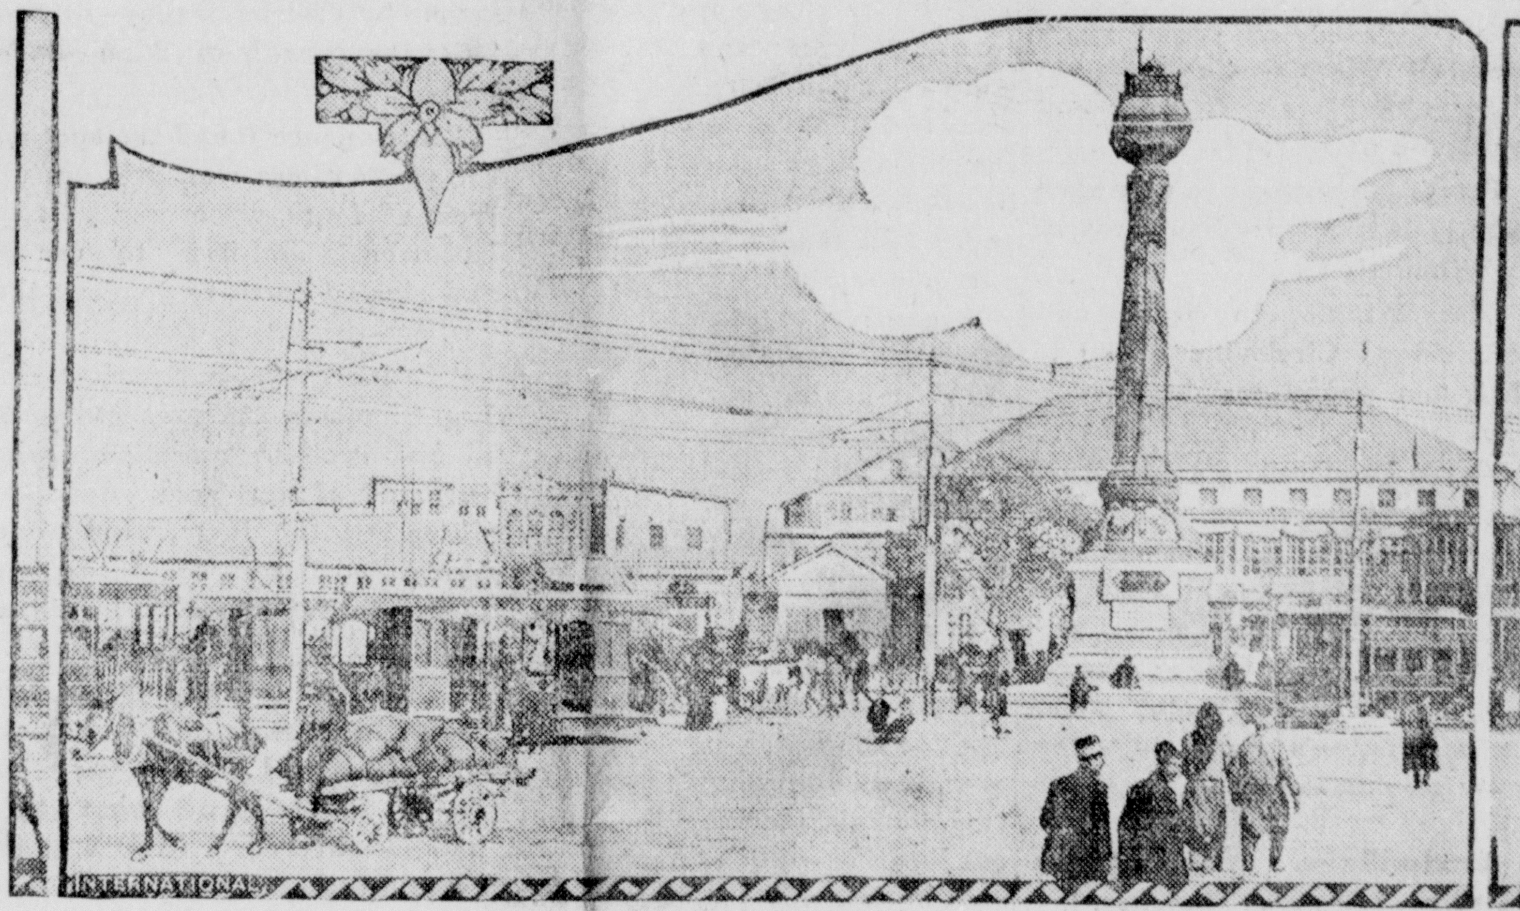

Lawyers and judges stared when Harry S. Stevenson, freshman law student at the University of Iowa, broke the limit they had set for their new test to determine the aptitude of law students. He rung up a score of 120 where 120 had been considered the highest possible mark. Stevenson has won a place on more debate teams than any other student at the University of Iowa.

'Gold-Paved' Highway for Nevada Motorists

Reno, Nev.—A highway paved with gold really exists in the state of Nevada. An analysis of the gravel being used in paving the highway between Ruth and Ely, eastern Nevada towns, shows that the building material contains flour and flake gold. The gold is not present in quantities to make it a paying mining investment, so the construction company is applying it to the road.

CIRCLEVILLE DEFEATED BY HILLSBORO HI

Score Was 13 to 0—Our Team Made Good Fight But Could Not Win.

Monday afternoon Circleville high was trounced by the Purple and White grid machine from Hillsboro to the tune of 13-0.

The Circleville team was in the fight from start to finish and occasionally showed flashes of real form but they could not consistently solve the receptive attack of the downstaters.

Peters won the toss and elected to receive at the east goal.

Peters received the kick off on his own 20, and returned it to his own 32 yard line. Circleville tried several line plays and then Peters attempted to punt but it was blocked and Hillsboro recovered on their own 28 yard line. Hillsboro by a series of line plunges carried the ball to the one yard line and Houcks carried it over. The try for points was also good. Circleville again elected to receive, Peters catching this one on his own 12 yard line and returning it to his own 4, by pretty running. The rest of the half consisted of exchanges of punts and two marches down the field by Hillsboro. Both of these were halted before they seriously threatened to become touchdowns. The half ended with the ball in Hillsboro's possession on their own 42 yard line.

At the start of the second half both teams experienced difficulty in advancing the ball until a Circleville punt was returned 35 yards to the Circleville 30 yard line. A pass then carried it to the three.

Then the Circleville defense tightened and Peters broke thru twice throwing Hillsboro backs for big losses. An attempted drop kick was blocked. Circleville succeeded in holding it over for a touchdown after a fifty yard march, twenty-seven of these being made by a forward pass.

Peters received the kick off on the 5 and was thrown on his own 15. Circleville failed to gain and the game ended with the ball in Hillsboro's possession on Circleville's 29 yard line.

The entire Hillsboro backfield and Parks, Peters and Liston for Circleville, were the stars of the contest.

INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS AT PENITENTIARY

Governor Donahey Will Probe for Cause of White Plague at Big Prison.

Columbus, O., Nov. 9, (UP).—A committee to investigate health and sanitary conditions at the state penitentiary here, will be appointed this week by Governor Vic Donahey, the executive's office announced today.

The board of inquiry, according to the governor's spokesman, will investigate the charge by Prison Physician C. L. Perry that tuberculosis in the prison has become alarmingly prevalent because the penitentiary is not adequately equipped to counteract it.

Dr. Perry blamed the outbreak to prison congestion and the physician's statements were substantiated by War den P. E. Thomas and State Warfare Director Harper.

Both Thomas and Harper, admitting the truth of Dr. Perry's statement, contended they were powerless to remedy conditions.

Director Harper has charged the state board of control with being partly responsible because it has refused he said to purchase the Roseville brick plant which would permit outside employment of additional convicts and relieve congestion in the prison.

Family to Fit Odd Shaped House Sought

Seattle, Wash.—A house 5 feet 3 inches wide at one end and 16 feet at the other was built on a lot 40 by 130 by 11 feet here last summer by A. B. Wark, contractor. An ordinance requiring the house to be in line with others on the two streets it faces was the reason the structure took the shape of a flatiron, Wark said.

The dwelling contains three furnished bedrooms. In the rooms a disappearing breakfast nook, a receding bed and a vanishing ironing board were installed. The basement has a combination laundry and garage.

Wark said he was trying to find somebody the house would fit so that he could sell it.

AUTOMOBILE REGISTRATION COMPLICATED

Owners Must Present Bills of Sale or Sworn Statement of Ownership.

Columbus, O. Nov. 9 (UP).—Discovery of new provisions of the Lipp Automobile Registration law will be made by 1,320,000 Buckeye automobile owners when they apply for 1926 license tags.

Sponsored by Representative Samuel I. Lipp, Cincinnati, the new law was passed by the legislature and became effective last July. These new provisions, however, do not go into effect until license tags are applied for.

Under the new law motorists must supply the same information required by the old law, description, factory and engine numbers, model, horsepower, etc., in applying for license tags.

But the new provisions require that an automobile owner must present with his application for registration, "proper bills of sale or sworn statement of ownership, the originals of which have been duly filed with the clerk of courts, or a certificate of the clerk of courts certifying that such bills of sale or sworn statements of ownership have been duly filed."

This means a resurrection of the long forgotten bill of sale that has been laid away with the other non-essentials of modern existence.

And license tags will not be issued unless the required bill of sale, statement of ownership or clerk's certificate is presented.

Motorists living in the county seat will have little trouble obtaining the required documents, if the bill of sale has been lost. They can go to the clerk of courts and, for the fee of 25 cents, can get a certificate showing filing of such a bill.

Outside residents will either have to go to the county seat or write for certificates paying the required 25 cent fee.

CIRCLEVILLE HIGH

Held Wilmington To Small Score In Friday's Game.

The Griffith coached footballers of Circleville High displayed fine form in holding Wilmington High to a 6-0 score Friday. Wilmington is rated as one of the best teams in Southern Ohio.

A fighting spirit prevailed throughout the game, Circleville being within striking distance a number of times.

Circleville chose to kick off, Peters making a pretty kick. The ball was returned to their own 40 yard line. Steady gaining brought the ball to Circleville's own 20 yard line when the ball was lost on downs. Peters punted 40 yards. Wilmington's pass was uncompleted. Camp punted 28 yards. The quarter ended with Circleville in possession of the ball on Wilmington's 35 yard line.

Circleville opened up a passing game in the second quarter, Wallace hurling several passes to Parks. Liston also featured in passes. Six passes were tried, five being completed for a total gain of 75 yards. Circleville battled the ball to within one yard of the goal, when upon a quarterback sneak took the ball over, a penalty for Circleville cost them the score.

Circleville again kicked off for the second half. Wilmington then made a steady procession down the field to Circleville's 2-yard line. Circleville then tightened and deprived them of a touchdown. Q. Peters punted and Wilmington by more plunging brought the ball to Circleville's one foot line; again Circleville held them, getting the ball on downs. Peters punted, Wilmington again came down the field by a long pass and line plunging, not to be stopped this time, Davis making the goal. A try at kick failed.

Wilmington kicked off, Circleville procuring the ball on their own 40. Two passes are uncompleted, Peters then making a 48 yard punt. Wilmington failed to gain and then punted, Peters making a beautiful return of 30 yards. An end run lost 10 yards; Wilmington got the ball and lost it. Peters punted over the goal. Wilmington's ball on own 20; after two end runs and a pass they punted. A long pass by Wallace to Parks, netted 20 yards. Another pass, had it been better directed, would have won the game.

Circleville completed six passes out of nine, for a total gain of 95 yards. Wilmington tried but three passes, two were completed for a gain of 12 yards.

Peters' punting averaged slightly better than 40 yards as to Wilmington's 25.

The Wilmington team outscrimmaged Circleville owing to their ten pound weight advantage.

Every Circleville man filled his position to perfection, Parks playing a stellar game at end, and Peters in the backfield displayed fine form in punting and carrying the ball.

Rose played a splendid game in Wilmington's backfield, Corzette shining on the line. Line-up:

DEER PROTECTED BY LAW IN OHIO

State Director of Agriculture, Chas. V. Truax, calls the attention of sportsmen of the state to the fact that deer are protected in Ohio, there being no open season on these animals. This may seem an unusual matter to emphasize but there are apparently at least two deer at large in the State of Ohio. Authentic reports, received recently by Director Truax, indicate that one of these animals was in Champaign county near Mechanicsburg early last week, and, at last notice, had worked its way into Madison county. This deer is an eight-point buck. There have also been two definite reports from Holmes and Tuscarawas counties that a deer has been seen and is still at large in the eastern part of the State.

According to Director Truax, there is a possibility of the Eastern deer having worked its way in from Pennsylvania. However, both of these animals may have escaped from the Roosevelt Game Preserve, the vast refuge maintained by the Division of Fish and Game of the State Department of Agriculture, near Portsmouth. The only drawback to the latter theory, however, is the improbability of these two animals reaching their present location without having been seen in the counties they would have had to cross on their journey from the Portsmouth Preserve.

Ohio laws clearly state that deer shall be protected at all times and shall not be harmed by hunters.

CLEW TO CRADLE

Of Man In Far-off Mongolia Is Thought Found at Last.

A first-hand report of the amazing discoveries made by Roy Chapman Andrews of the American Museum of Natural History on his latest trip into far-away Mongolia is given in Liberty in an article by Charles Dailey entitled "Has the Cradle of Man Been Found?"

"Has science found the spot on the earth where man first got up from all fours, discovered that he had a brain and how to use it, and started forth to conquer the earth?" the article asks.

"Perhaps not—but perhaps so. Roy Chapman Andrews and some of his brother scientists, who went out of the back door of China into the dusty, wind-swept Mongolian desert last spring, returned to the outposts of civilization recently with their trophies.

"After removing generous layers of Mongolian dust and absorbing a good meal, they let drop a few hints of what they had discovered. And a most amazing story it promises to be—a story which may, as I have said, turn out in time to be the explanation of man's origin as an intelligent being upon the earth.

"Last year's sensational find of dinosaur eggs was followed by further discoveries of the same sort, and tremendously important light was thrown upon another problem—one of the most important confronting the science of animal life. This is the problem of how mammals, the great type of vertebrate animals to which man belongs, were developed."

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—Mayor Huston Quinn, who has been urged by Mayor-elect Arthur A. Wills to accept the Chairmanship of the Board of Public Works, announced today that he would give his reply to the G. O. P. standard bearer by Monday. He declined to say what his decision would be.

KEEPING WELL
EIGHT HUNDRED DOLLARS PROFIT
DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"
(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

THAT'S a pretty good profit isn't it. You'd be glad to get that on all your investments wouldn't you?

That's the profit you get when you buy prevention of disease.

A county health officer in one of our states tells this story.

A farmer who was a resident of his county came to see him one day. He said he had been asked by his neighbors to find out what the county appropriation for health was doing for them. They were practical men. It was all right, he supposed, for people who had plenty of money to spend it for fads but they hadn't any money to throw away and they were opposed to the county spending any money for nonsense. He owned a farm worth $5,000. He had a wife and three children. The county health officer figured for a few moments and then told him that the county health department was costing him eighty cents a year.

He then told him that the health department would furnish him with detailed plans for building a sanitary privy on his farm, protecting his well against pollution and draining his land so as to prevent mosquitoes. This service, if gotten from a private expert, would cost him about $200. The health officer also showed him how the prevention of contagious diseases protected his family, how the examination of the school children in the county prevented disease among his children and would protect them from serious trouble in after life. He showed him how the health department could correct any defects in his children's eyes, teeth and nutrition at less than one-tenth what it would cost him in any other way, how the county nurse could help him in case of serious illness in his family, especially how she would assist his wife when the baby came and advise her how to take care of the baby.

When he got through the farmer said: "As nearly as I can figure it out, the county health department is worth at least $800 to me in real money every year. It costs me eighty cents. That's a good enough profit for me."

Fighting disease is no longer an individual responsibility. It's a community duty.

Suppose each farmer had to build the road along his own farm as they used to do.

What's common sense in good building is common sense in disease prevention.

—WE SAVE YOU MONEY—

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

PROCLAMATION

Tomorrow, November 11, 1925, marks the seventh anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, calling for the suspension of hostilities of the World war.

We, as a part of these great United States, want to join in a united effort to show our appreciation of the services rendered by the boys who laid down their all that the peace of the world might prevail.

Therefore, I, Geo. M. Fitzpatrick, mayor of the City of Circleville, Ohio, ask that all business be suspended for 15 minutes at 11 o'clock a. m., tomorrow, Wednesday, November 11; that all flags be displayed; that we ask the guidance of our Heavenly Father in all that stands for truth and loyalty; and that the dove of peace shall reign over us.

GEO. M. FITZPATRICK, Mayor.

Means It Also Has More Debts, Too. This country has twice as much money per capita as it had in 1860, and 7,300 times as many things to spend it for.—Boston Transcript.

THIRTY YEAR GROWTH OF HAIR HAS BEEN SHORN.
More than 30 years ago, W. S. Clark, aged 80, a Civil war veteran of Smith Center, Kansas, made a vow that he would not have his hair cut until William Jennings Bryan was in the president's chair. The recent death of the commoner, however, weakened his resolve and Saturday a barber cut the hair that hung about Mr. Clark's waist.

AMUSEMENTS

A daring production, clothed in comedy and satire is "Proud Flesh" a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by King Vidor, which opened yesterday at the Met theater for an engagement of three days.

The novel of the same name from the pen of Lawrence Sanders was one of the year's "best sellers" and the screen version of it bids fair to surpass the sensation created by King Vidor's last picture, "Wife of the Centaur."

The plot of the story has for its theme a young girl of culture and pride who heeds the call of the primeval urge. Born amid the ruins of a great San Francisco holocaust Fernanda is taken to Spain where she she is reared in every luxury.

Eleanor Boardman, as Fernanda, offers something different from the unsophisticated role she will be remembered for in the "Wife of the Centaur." Her portrayal of the character is charming and lays emphasis on her versatility.

Pat O'Malley, as Patrick O'Malley, put all the determination of his race into the part and is most convincing. Harrison Ford, as Don Jaime, does some fine work.

The supporting cast includes Trixie Friganza, Priscilla Bonner, Sojin, William J. Kelly, Rosita Marstini, Evelyn Sherman, George Nichols, Margaret Seddon and Lillian Elliot.

WID

Hollywood, Nov. 7.—Buzz, buzz, buzz—Hollywood's surely astir. Never in years have I seen so much sincere worrying over "How are we going to get real pictures?"

Every big studio is going through some sort of re-organization. You are not particularly interested in the matter of who moves out or who moves in, but you sure can be interested in the fact that "heavy thinking" is truly being done regarding making ALL movies GOOD.

It has never happened before in the many, many years that I've been in the business. I mean that. There has been plenty of heavy thinking about making some movies very good, but as to making ALL movies GOOD—well, none of the big companies have ever before made any pretense that they expected all of them to be good. That's really the most encouraging sign I've encountered in years.

Two reasons have caused the big producing companies to make every effort to deliver in each movie a proper value as entertainment. One is the fact that you fans have gradually become more discriminating and just won't turn out for the bad ones, and the second reason is that the producers have bought enough theaters that they have had a better chance through box office cash receipts reports to realize that you jam theaters to see the good ones and stay far, far away from the bad ones.

It's really the beginning of a new era in the movie world. This is the start of the production season for movies that will go into the theaters, beginning in August next year, and all Hollywood is happy over the decision of the big bosses to "watch their step." When sincere efforts are being made, the truly capable creative workers profit and the hangers-on go back to the milk trucks. Nothing could please all the real people more.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From the Wires by Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

(United Press)
Dayton.—Allen McDonald Saturday announced he will resign as representative to the state assembly from Montgomery county before it meets in January. He was a candidate for the city commission in the recent election and received the highest number of votes cast, thereby automatically becoming mayor January 1.

Dayton.—John Schwierking a farmer near Brookville, Saturday was in the county jail serving out a fine of $500 assessed on a charge of possessing implements for making liquor. A 100-gallon still was confiscated. The still was in an underground chamber concealed by a trap door over which earth had been spread.

Toledo.—Walter Jones, 28, Indianapolis, was arrested here Saturday and charged with attempting to pass a fraudulent check. When seized by Patrolman Harry Harpel, Jones jerked a revolver from his pocket and snapped the trigger three times. The piece jammed and Jones was overpowered before he could repair it.

Columbus.—The Ohio public utilities commission has no choice but to enforce the law requiring all commercial trucksters to pay a state tax and obtain licenses to operate in this state, the commission told representatives of the Indiana public utilities commission today.

Cleveland.—Police Judge Mary Grossman has announced that she will sentence criminally careless motorists to 48 hours at the bedside of their victims, if hospital authorities will permit.

This was the first movement in a crusade to stop reckless driving in Cleveland, which in the past 24 hours has taken a toll of seven lives and has maimed a score of persons.

Columbus.—Governor Vic Donahey has asked seven Columbus physicians to serve as a committee to investigate sanitary and health conditions at the state penitentiary.

The governor appointed the committee as a result of the report of Prison Physician C. L. Perry, who said fifteen prisoners had died from tuberculosis this year and that fifty others had contracted the disease.

They were as busy as bees at the downtown restaurant. A portly woman, visitor hurriedly approached the serving counter and demanded of the startled waiter:

"A passively hopeful attitude is no good if you want to prevent a world clash between capital and labor."

He paused, then added:

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

STEVENSON'S

STOVES FURNITURE RUGS PHONOGRAPH RECORDS

HE FOUND A WAY

When Silas Chapman Jr., an insurance expert, died in Hartford, Postmaster Taylor revealed a fact which he had been pledged not to reveal during the dead man's lifetime. This was that every year, for a quarter of a century, before Christmas, Mr. Chapman would ask about the number of letters and packages addressed obviously by immigrants to friends and relatives in the Old World and held in the postoffice for insufficient postage. The lacking stamps he would himself supply. This he called his yearly contribution "to people who live in foreign countries who might want their mail for Christmas."

Mr. Chapman's happy thought seems to have antedated the work of the good people in our cities who take more or less care of letters addressed to Santa Claus. His annual expenditure for stamps ran only to some $20 or $25, but it would be hard to overestimate the good done by such a comparatively modest expenditure. With kindly thoughtfulness one does not have to be a millionaire to scatter good deeds in a world that needs them.—New York World.

HEALTH CONTESTS

To Be Conducted Next Year Will Be Participated In By Hundreds of Ohio Youths.

Columbus, Nov. 9.—The health contests to be conducted next year by the state health department, and come to a climax during the state fair of 1926 will be genuine contests and will be participated in by hundreds of Ohio youths. The boys' and girls' farm clubs of the state have taken up the contest in earnest and the first set of eliminations will be conducted shortly after the first of the new year. When they get through with the contest some young chap, or pretty miss will have broadcast the reputation of being the most healthy and perfectly formed individual in all Ohio, and with such an honor there will be many gifts worth keeping.

The contest this year was participated in by only a dozen counties, but to each of the winners Governor Vic Donahey has written a letter of congratulation, and later on they will get a free trip to Chicago to attend the national stock show.

Old Design Appreciated

While removing a plastered wall of an old colonial house in New England the workmen discovered a board partition under the plastering. This partition had been papered with a striking, attractive design of wall paper. One of the workmen decided that this might now prove of interest to patrons who wanted an antique design of wall paper for a room having antique furnishings.

A portion of the boards showing the design intact was carefully removed, and later, on being sent for inspection to a wall paper manufacturer, was promptly bought by him.

The design, which proved to be a lost one, was liberally paid for, and, in reproduction, was displayed in the window of a store in Boston

EUROPEAN TYPES OF HATS REPLACE FEZ

Changes in Headgear in Turkey Significant.

Washington.—“Hats and history are not coupled in most people's minds,” says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society anent the recent efforts of Turkish leaders to have the fez replaced by European types of hats, “but in Turkey radical changes in types of head coverings have marked important historical developments.

“When the Ottoman Turks came down out of Central Asia as rough riding plainsmen they are believed to have worn the high, soft cap of astrakhan wool known as the kalpak—a sort of little brother to the drum-major's fuzzy, towering head piece of today. The Turks have shown a tendency to take their reforms by sudden spurts, holding tenaciously to the latest innovation between times. Before long after their arrival in southern Asia they had gone over bodily to the turban of that region, and this remained the characteristic Turkish headgear for many centuries.

Turban Told Rank.
“The turban became the complex badge of rank and even profession in Turkey at the height of its power. From the snow-white turbans of the Moslem ecclesiastical dignitaries and the huge piles with distinctive stripes and shapes of the grand vizier and lesser political lights, these head coverings ranged down to the dirty cloths wound round the heads of the peasants. Every good Turk during this era had the profoundest contempt for things European and the hat was the badge of the infidel. One of the greatest insults that could be offered to a Turk who had shown too great friendliness toward ‘Franks’ was to nail a hat to his door.

“The fez, which has been associated in the minds of the last few generations with all things Turkish, came as one of the sudden Turkish reforms relatively a short time ago. Sultan Mahmoud II, who ruled during the early years of the Nineteenth century, wished, like Peter the Great of Russia, to modernize his people and turn their thoughts from Asia. He decreed that his people should abandon the turban and wear the fez, doubtless influenced by the fact that the latter is at once more modish and more convenient. He coupled the fez with the introduction of the frock coat for his courtiers and the well-dressed young Turk in general, and was cursed roundly by most of his people as ‘the infidel sultan.’ The use of the fez continued, however, to such good advantage that within a generation or so it was looked upon by the outside world, and no doubt by most Turks, as the distinctive age-old Turkish head covering.

Brims Interfered With Prayer.
“Why Mahmoud settled on the fez as the particular type of head covering to replace the turban is hard to understand. Most of his reforms looked toward westernization. But something very like the fez was worn by the ancient Assyrians and Hittites, and it is supposed to have come down to modern times through the Byzantines and the Greeks. One thing in its favor was its lack of a brim. So long as the Turks were devout Moslems, practicing their prostrations at prayer time, brims were not permissible, since they interfered with the touching of the forehead to the ground.

“After the World war, when a revolution became successful in Turkey, the leaders at first turned back to the ancient kalpak of the original Turks. This head covering became popular as signifying a return to the virtues of the old stock and was worn by all people of prominence in the new regime.

“Like all the other changes in head coverings, the most recent move in favor of the straw and fedora of western Europe has its significance. The caliphate has been abolished, the Mohammedan religion has been removed from its place of power in the government, and there is no more reason why a Turk should not wear a brim if he chooses than an Italian or an Englishman. And the movements that accompany this Europeanization of head coverings is significant. Polygamy has been abolished, women are encouraged to abandon the veil, marriages are to be civil only, and an entirely new code of laws, modeled largely after European systems, is being drafted. The Turk is not only changing his hat; he is making himself over cap a pie.”

Runs on Rail or Highway

The new type of omnibus built in the Transvaal for travel by either rail or ordinary road is described as running over the road-rail with the front axle supported on a rail bogie, the bogie being on the rail and the driving wheels on wheelways. The 30 horsepower, watercooled engine can run on the South African motor spirit known as Natalite or on producer-gas. The Parker gas producer is used, with charcoal as the fuel, a charge of 40 pounds sufficing for the round trip on the experimental line of 40 miles. The rear wheels have twin giant pneumatic tires, the front tires being solid. The speed may vary from 18 to 20 miles an hour, and loads may be pulled up grades of 1 to 20. This novel vehicle can leave the track to deliver passengers, mail or freight, or can make special trips beyond the railway to any desired point.

Heat with Distinction

At last it is proved that a home heater can be good looking—ornamental, if you will—as well as a practical heat-producing utility.

The Mueller Furnacette marks the greatest advance in home heating equipment since the invention of the heating stove. It is the joint creation of master furniture designers and skilled heating engineers. There is distinction in every line of its well-balanced, walnut-grained, vitreous enamel cabinet.

And as for heat—never was there an above-floor heater of any kind that could compare with the Furnacette in heating efficiency! It heats the whole house by continuously re-circulating warm, moist air thru all the rooms. It provides more comfortable, more uniform heat than two or three stoves combined, yet uses no more fuel than an ordinary heating stove.

Sold on convenient monthly payments.

HARTMAN THEATER.

Unquestionably the most important musical event of this or any other season is the engagement of the Messrs. Shubert's unparalleled success, "The Student Prince" which will be seen for one week only at the Hartman theater, Columbus, commencing next Monday evening at 8:10 sharp. According to authentic reports from both press and public the Messrs. Shubert's have out done themselves in the production of this charming story of "Old Heidelberg." They have not only selected the best cast of concert artists, but they selected their famous male chorus of sixty voices from 500 applicants from the leading music colleges of America as they did the pretty golden voiced female chorus. The beautiful music having been written by Sigmund Romberg, America's foremost writer, it requires trained voices to properly render it, and experienced musicians to play it. That is the reason the special symphony orchestra is part of the organization which numbers 125 people in all traveling in a special "Student Prince" train of seven cars. "The Student Prince" is still playing in New York, Boston and Chicago where it has turned people away for more than a year. The company to be seen here is a "special" company and is probably the pet company of the Shuberts, and after playing in this city will go to St. Louis for a five weeks engagement.

According to a close check-up kept on the people attending this marvelous light opera, many people have witnessed the performances two and three times which alone is an assurance that it must be a most unusual and fascinating operetta. It is a production that will live forever in the memory of lovers of good music, a wholesome story and costuming that is unsurpassed, owing to the length of the performance and to allow the out-to-town people to catch their train or cars, the curtain will rise promptly at 8:10 evenings and at 2:15 for the Wednesday and Saturday matinees. You cannot afford to miss this wonderful attraction.
